"He's true to God who's true to man:
Wherever wrong is done
To the humblest and the weakest
'Neath the all-beholding sun,
That wrong is also done to us,
And they are slaves most base,
Whose love of right is for themselves,
And not for all the race."

Specimen copies sent to any address on receipt of five cents.

Notices concerning the whereabouts of individuals will be charged for at the rate of ten cents a line.

PRESS dispatches from Boston, dated January 16th, make the following announcement: "Helen Keller's teacher, Anne Mansfield Sullivan, is to wed John Albert Macy, the Harvard instructor, who edits Miss Keller's works. For years Miss Sullivan has been the mentor and companion of the blind deaf-mute; in fact almost Miss Keller's other self."

Burned to Death.

Elsie Anderson, 3 years old, a deaf and dumb founding, in the Egenolf Day Nursery, Elizabeth Avenue, was burned so badly there on Saturday night that she died in the Elizabeth General Hospital, about twenty-four hours later.

She was about to be given a hot bath when the accident happened. The water in the bath was scalding hot. The exact circumstances of her death could not be ascertained to-day. County Physician Westcott, who is coming to Elizabeth this afternoon to make the usual report on the case before granting a burial permit, said he understood the child had been accidentally scalded.

The dead child was one picked up on the street and was being cared for at the expense of the State Foundling Association. Her parents are unknown. She was always sickly at the Nursery and needed constant attendance. Every day she was given a hot bath, and it was while taking one of these that she incurred the burns which brought on her death.

The child had an attack of pneumonia. Since being ill she had been a peevish youngster.

As soon as the accident occurred two physicians were hastily summoned, but their efforts to save her life were unavailing.—Elizabeth, N. J., Journal.

His Order For Eggs.

There is a certain lawyer of the town who devotes all his leisure time to the preparation of elaborate and solemn jokes. Nobody on earth is too august for him to tackle. He was in London last summer and one morning he went into a restaurant with his most dignified air and proceeded to order breakfast.

"I want two eggs," said he to the waiter. "I want one fried on one side and the other fried on the other."

The waiter nodded and withdrew. A little later he returned.

"Beg pardon, sir," said he, "but I am afraid I didn't quite catch your order. Would you mind repeating it?"

"Not at all," said the American, solemnly. "I want two eggs, one of them fried on one side and the other on the other."

"Thank you sir," said the waiter. "I thought that was what you said, but I wasn't quite sure, sir."

Five minutes later an apologetic waiter returned to the American's elbow.

"I beg pardon, sir," said he again, "but the cook and I have had some words. Would you mind having those eggs scrambled?"—From the Washington Post.

Many Uses of Salt.

Besides being such an essential part of culinary art, salt has many other uses perhaps not generally known.

Salt cleanses the palate and furred tongue, and a gargle of salt and water is often efficacious. A pinch of salt on the tongue, followed ten minutes after by a drink of cold water, often cures a sick headache.

Salt hardens the gums, makes the teeth white and sweetens the breath. Salt added to the water in which cut flowers stand keeps them fresh. Salt used dry in the same manner as snuff, will do much to relieve colds, hay fever, etc.

The Great Salt Lake.

The water of the Great Salt Lake is clear and transparent, with a bottom of fine white and a margin of incrustated salt. It is one of the purest, almost concentrated brines in the whole world. Its waters give sustenance to no living thing; there is not the smallest insect or worm to frighten the most timid bather, and the bathing is the most perfect sea-bathing in the whole of North America or in Europe. No human body can sink in it. One may actually walk the water, no matter how deep it is. Your body will persistently rise, the shoulders above the surface, or you may even sit down in it. Its wonderful buoyancy must be experienced to be realized. No knowledge of swimming is necessary; one may enter the lake without the slightest fear; all you have to do is to lie down and float. But to swim in it, that is another thing! When your hands are put under the water to take a stroke, your feet will not sink; it is impossible to keep more than one end of your body under the water at the time. You cannot swim, but lie on your back with your arms crossed under your head, as much at ease as if in your own room. The water is so salt that it cannot be swallowed without great danger of strangulation; a drop in the eye gives much pain.

But bathing in the Great Salt Lake is refreshing and invigorating, notwithstanding that the body must be rebathed in fresh water afterwards to remove the immense quantity of salt that adheres to the skin.

Nearly half a million people bathe in the Great Salt Lake every year; they come from all over the world, and tourists are beginning to realize that Salt Lake City, with its magnificent surroundings, present the greatest scope of novelty, and is destined to be a leading watering-place. Salt Lake is nearer to New York than was Buffalo forty years ago. Newport, Saratoga and Mount Desert will never be abandoned, but the Great Salt Lake, as the years roll on, is likely to become the most popular place in the whole interior of the continent.—Mt. Airy World.

The Deepest Mine In The World.

"Imagine if you can," a gigantic honeycomb forty miles long by fifteen miles broad, surrounded by water and penetrated by hundreds of miles of tunnel arranged in tiers one below another to the depth of a mile, and you will have some idea," writes Mr. Theodore Waters in Everybody's Magazine, of the country in which the deepest mine in the world, the Calumet and Hecla, is located. This coppermine extends down four hundred feet below the bottom of Lake Superior, which itself is one thousand feet deep.

If the knife of a Cyclops could cut the honeycomb in two, longitudinally, as Sir John Lubbock used to cut an ant's nest for the purpose of observing what was going on inside, there would be eclipsed by those of many surface communities. Dozen of elevator shafts, some perpendicular, others on an incline, would be found piercing the comb from top to bottom. In them would be seen cars carrying men and metal up and down with the speed of express-trains.

In and out, across and back extend galleries overflowing with activity; in some, lines of air-drills eating their way into the rock, in others the sudden bursting of blasts in the lodes. Electric locomotives are hauling trains of rock-car to the shafts, or men are found laboriously pushing the hand-cars through darkened subways. Down some of the shafts can be traced pumpkins, pipes and cables radiating outward through the galleries so that the miners may have dry tunnels, electric light, and even telephone service underground.

In these passages, many of them so deep that the internal heat of the earth can be perceptibly felt, men live and eat and toil and carry on the business of life apparently oblivious of the fact that they are nearer the center of the earth than ever man succeeded in getting before, and are digging themselves nearer every minute. Thousands of men inhabit these towns and villages underground, governed by law for their peaceful regulation, and provided with efficient systems of fire protection, sanitation, drainage and ventilation.

In the deepest mine there are over two hundred miles of tunnels lighted in part with incandescent lamps, and a complete telephone service with a "central" and eight instruments installed in the galleries; so that a pumpman on the fifty-seventh level can call up a friend over the long-distance wire at Chicago, and tell him how it feels to live in the bowels of the earth.—Youth's Companion.

When it comes to talking, a woman can give a man a handicap of a mouthful of hairpins and beat him out.

CALLAUDET COLLEGE.

Reorganizing the College Clubs.

AND SPORTING NOTES.

Brevities.

From our Regular Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sunday, January 15th.—On Monday, the work of reorganizing the college clubs was carried on still farther when the G. C. A. A. convened in the Lyceum for the purpose of electing its governing board for the new semester. The result of the balloting was as follows: President, Hunter Cooley, '05; Vice-President, Dan M. Reichard, '06; Treasurer, J. M. Robertson, '08; Secretary, E. M. Rowse, '06; Football Manager for 1905, C. L. Clark, '06; Assistant Baseball Manager, P. E. Seeley, '08; Track Manager, P. H. Erd, '05; Scorer, D. E. Tomlinson, '08; Yell Leader, H. A. Quitmeyer, Normal.

A long list of candidates for the baseball and track teams was presented and accepted, and other routine business was transacted. The last of the clubs to assemble was the S. N. D. C., which met on Thursday and elected the following Board and Committees. President, Hunter Cooley, '05; Vice-President, C. L. Clark, '06; Secretary, A. L. Kutzleb, '08; Treasurer, J. M. Robertson, '08.

Committee on Play: President, Cooley, '05, ex officio; D. M. Reichard, '06; W. C. Fugate, '06; F. E. Mikesell, '06; E. M. Rowse, '06. Committee on Arrangements: C. L. Clark, '06, A. L. Kutzleb, '08, J. M. Robertson, '08, ex officio; John Dusch, I. C., W. O. Messner, '08.

On Friday and Saturday, examinations for the removal of conditions were held, and the examinees are hoping they had better luck this time.

Arrangements are being made to give a dance on February 4th, in honor of the football team, which has struggled so valiantly against heavy odds the past season.

J. H. McFarlane, '07, has been elected exchange editor on the Buff and Blue staff, vice Miss Garrity, '06, who has left college on account of ill health.

The track team has been invited to send contestants to represent the college at Georgetown's annual indoor meet, to be held in Convention Hall, at some time early in the spring. Whether or not this invitation will be accepted is a matter not yet definitely decided.

J. B. Chandler, '07, has left college, and gone back to his home in Harriman, Tennessee.

Users of the Reading Room are enjoying greatly increased comfort from an innovation lately made there. Three benches have been placed along by the windows, so that those who wish to read by the better light there, or who are merely talking and telling stories, can now do so without infringing on the rights of the readers at the desk. Moreover, they afford a hitherto lacking accommodation for the many who use the room, while waiting for the mail, or during the intervals between classes.

Practically all hope of maintaining a basket ball team, this season, has now been given up, owing to the great difficulty of getting any games, and to the exceedingly limited opportunities for practice—twice a week. So the team has disbanded. It is to be expected that, taught by this experience, we shall elect our next manager in time to permit of his arranging some sort of a schedule. Then there will be an incentive to regular practice.

It is so cold at this time of writing there is every reason to hope for some skating during the next few days. The indications are that we are about to have the coldest spell of weather we have had this winter—probably to be followed by warm days, then a regular drizzle and malaria and the grip.

E. M. Mather, '08, was completely and pleasantly surprised recently by a short visit from his father, who had come down this way on business.

On Saturday night the ducks and geese were initiated into the mysteries of the O. W. L. S., with all inductive rest and circumstance. They now enjoy the full privileges of membership, save that they may not know the real meaning of O. W. L. S.

No anniversary celebration was held by the society this year, but the collection of china used at their banquets has been augmented by the addition of a number of pretty pieces, and some books, of which two were presented by the 1902 members, have been added to the society's library.

CHICAGO.

Happenings and Events to Come.

LADIES' AID SOCIETY.

The Pas-a-Pas Club—and Other Notes.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

The Chicago readers of the JOURNAL may wonder why I have not sent any news in two weeks. Am not going to invent excuses like some lazy reporters but plead guilty of my negligence and will try to do better in future; if not, they will please give me a grand bounce and ask some one else to take my place more acceptably.

Rev. Mann will come to Chicago again on Sunday, January 29th, and conduct services at 10:45 A.M. and 3 P.M., at All Angel's Church on the S. E. Corner of Michigan Avenue and 26th Street. He will be glad to have all deaf-mutes attend.

Miss Vina Smith, our popular deaconess has gone to Baltimore, Md., to assist Rev. Moylan in organizing a Ladies' Aid Society, and giving talks on its work.

We remember seeing Rev. Moylan here last Summer. He created a pleasing impression on us by his clear delivery at the church.

Miss Grace H. Hastings went home a week ago, after having enjoyed her visit with her relatives and old friends for over two months in Chicago.

Frank Smith came here from his home in Michigan for a few days' visit during the holidays.

Theo. S. Rose, of New York City, has been a non-resident of the Pas-a-Pas Club for several years. He sent his joyous New Year greetings to the Club by letter.

The Pas-a-Pas Club held its monthly meeting on Saturday, evening, January 7th. The usual transactions of business being done, Mr. Craig announced a "Mock Trial" for next Saturday evening, January 21st. He is assisted by Geo. Schriver, and both promise a funny and laughable play. It was suggested that we should petition the new Governor of Illinois to retain the position of Charles Gillett for four years. The motion was carried by acclamation.

The club had about 100 members January, 1904, but 77 now. Several resigned, or were dropped on account of arrears. It seems that if there had been no strike at the Automatic Electric Co. factory the club would have had 115 members. What club or Society of the deaf has the largest number of members in the United States?

Mr. Philip Emery and his wife have concluded to stay in Chicago all Winter instead of fleeing to the warmer clime, as they have done for ten years. Perhaps Mr. Emery regrets the change now, because he recently slipped down and injured himself so severely that he was obliged to stay in bed for a week or so.

The Ladies' Aid Society held its monthly meeting on Wednesday afternoon, January 4th. Its transactions are unknown to the writer. The Society elected Mrs. Morton Sonneborn, President, Mrs. Dougherty, Vice-President for the South Side, Miss Zollinger, Vice-President for the West Side, and Miss Koessel, for the North Side. Miss Baumann was elected Secretary and Miss Jacoba, Treasurer. The plans for entertainments for this year will be made out at the next monthly meeting.

The Winter Picnic which William Wayman originated was a brilliant success in every way. The guests numbering about 60 enjoyed every thing, including their lunches, with delicious coffee, which was served by the caterer of the Home Club House. The nice prizes which Mr. Wayman offered to the best dancers and whist players and Target throwers were won by Chas. Sullivan, Mrs. Codman, Mrs. Sonneborn, Miss Armandi and Mr. Tate and Morton Sonneborn. A Himmel-schein exhibited several interesting dances, imitating a Sailors, Russian, Cossack, Cake walk and Dewey's Navy.

Miss Nellie Conkling is mourning the tragic death of her employer, Mr. Hopkins, who was shot by his unhappy wife in her own defense, on New Year's Day. She thinks his printing business has been broken up or sold out already. Mrs. Hopkins presented to Miss Conkling a beautiful Christmas gift. Much sympathy is expressed for her by the public.

Oscar Regensburg, who presided at the last meeting of the Club, for the first time in about ten years, remarked that he had been a member of the Club for twenty years, and always felt interested in its welfare. He said he dreamed one night that the Club would some day be transformed into a well furnished and decorated one, just like the Home Club House, where we attended the Ball and Winter Picnic. It is to be hoped that he will remember the Pas-a-Pas Club in his will.

SIDNEY H. HOWARD.

Edgewood Park, Pa.

Work at the school is assuming its wonted course again after the new year was ushered in, altho many of the pupils found it hard to realize that the holidays were over and that mid-term examinations were uncomfortably near. A greater number of our pupils went home to spend Christmas than ever before in our history. Out of the 220 or more only about 70 remained to keep up appearances at the Institution. Owing to the fact that so many had gone home and that Jupiter Pluvius was so much in evidence the holiday was rather slow and uninteresting at the School. Even at the party in the evening no pronounced enthusiasm was manifest.

Before the holidays there were no cases at the hospital so Miss Brown, the nurse, had an opportunity of spending several days at home, but since the pupils came back there has been quite a colony there, which is evidence that Christmas brings its ills as well as its joys, but, usually, the joys are in a large majority.

We seem to be in close touch with Canada judging by the amount of snow we have been having since 1905 came around. Shoveling "the beautiful" has been a continuous performance, so now we slide along between high banks of snow and not infrequently take "a header" into them.

Last week we were agreeably surprised by a flying visit from Mrs. Edith Vanderbeek, nee Miss Edith Pyle, she of the sunny smile, who left us a year or so ago. Her sojourn in South Bend, Ind., does not seem to have changed her any, either in look or disposition. She stopped over to see her friends here on her way to Wilmington, Del., where her mother is lying seriously ill.

Three of our teachers of last year now reside in Wilkinsburg—Mrs. Maury, Mrs. Norton and Mrs. Campbell. They are frequent visitors at the School. This seems to be a good place for marriageable teachers to come to.

A postponed entertainment for the benefit of the pupils at the Inst., was given Saturday evening, January 7th, by the "Grimm Dramatic Company" to a very appreciative audience. The play was a sort of variety show, consisting of different casts, but as a whole served very well, indeed, to entertain the young people for whom it was intended. If there were more conveniences in the way of stage equipment it would be easy to make vast improvements in pantomime, but under the circumstances we think the "company" deserves much commendation. Simple Simon was very much in evidence, and Miss Edmiston and Mr. Grimm made idealistic parents—on the stage. Judging by the enjoyment of the pupils the play was a brilliant success.

Mabel Sawhill, Iva Roberts and Alice Teegarden, have returned (with reluctance) to their studies at Blairsville College after nearly three weeks of rest and recreation at home. Of course, they all put in an appearance at the School during their little vacation.

Mr. Archibald Woodside and Mr. D. E. Moran have been on the sick list recently. LaGrippe had them in her tender embrace, but it is gratifying to state they stood the ordeal gallantly and are at this writing fit for "strategems and spoils" in the business line. As a matter of fact their "better halves" deserve much credit for their speedy recovery during the sort of weather "Old Probs" has been supplying us lately.

On Dec. 31st, the Euchre Club was entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bards. That statement is sufficient to intimate that a royal good time was had. The prizes, a fine framed etching and bronze clock, fell to Miss M. M. Toomey and Mr. Charles Fritzsche, respectively. Samuel Nichols ran off with the booby, and it was worth getting too. The next meeting of the club will be held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Taylor, of Allegheny, next Saturday, January 17th. It is likely to be lively.

The Pittsburg Branch, P. S. A. D., held its regular monthly meeting January 7th. There was not a very large attendance, although something out of the ordinary was on the programme. The great success of the recent bazaar had set the wise ones thinking, and as it was generally understood who was mostly instrumental in making the affair bear such golden fruit, it was decided to show the appreciation of the Branch and that of the deaf general, by presenting a suitable testimonial to Mr. H. C. Bloedel for his generous assistance. A fine, up-to-date desk in quartered oak had been purchased and it was intended to make the presentation at this meeting but as fate willed it Mr. Bloedel could not be present. So taking his son and daughter into their confidence, the committee decided to make the presentation the following Monday evening, at Mr. Bloedel's residence. The desk was shipped—sub rosa—and kept in hiding, and that evening a number of those in the scheme quietly met at the appointed place. Mr. Bloedel was found quite busy at a large table covered with papers and business documents. He gave the visitors a cordial welcome however, and as his sitting room overflowed into the parlor, Mr. B. turned on the light and looked down upon the shining top of his present in a dazed sort of way. It took some time for him to realize what was up, and then he managed to say that the desk should not be for him, but be sent to the Home at Doylestown. His friends, however, convinced him that he was the proper person to make use of it. If Mr. Bloedel is nearly as much pleased with the desk as it pleased the deaf to present it, he will enjoy it immensely.

After the presentation address by Mr. Leitner, Mr. Bloedel wrote: "I appreciate your fine gift very much. The older a sensible man gets the more he tries his best to do good to others. This only gives real happiness and satisfaction in life. I only wish I could do more good in this world, not for reward here or hereafter, but because this only gives a man real satisfaction to know he has done his best for his family and his fellow men. I think my God will ask me when I die, 'What did you do in this life?' not 'What did you believe?' Good deeds bring good fruit. We ought to do as much in our lifetime as we possibly can do, for that is our duty in order to be happy and contented."

The latest reports of the Bazaar make the net amount $848.36, with more in prospect.

Miss Edna Glant is a frequent visitor at the School. She knows how to keep in touch with her Alma Mater and enjoy the good things to be found there.

Get an Egg and Spin it.

In fact, get two eggs, one boiled and the other raw, and spin them rapidly on their sides on a mirror or other perfectly smooth surface. If you put the palm of your hand gently upon the boiled egg while it is spinning, it, of course, ceases to move, and remains motionless after you have lifted your hand.

But, if you do the same with a raw egg, it will immediately begin to spin again when the hand is removed. Indeed, it is extraordinary how long you can hold your hand upon it without destroying its motion. The reason of this is no doubt apparent. The fluid within the shell continues to revolve, though the shell is stationary, while in the other case the whole egg is stopped.

If you attempt to spin the eggs on the mirror like a top, you will find that the boiled egg will spin for a considerable time, but the other will fall almost immediately on its side.—Exchange.

Ways to Waste.

Using silver forks and spoons in the kitchen.

Placing brushes with the bristle sides up.

Letting pieces of bread dry and mould and then throwing them away.

Wearing the same clothing each week as it come from the laundry.

Using the same table and bed linens each week as they come from the laundry.

Using sheets for ironing tables, napkins for dish towels, and towels for dishcloths.

Buying articles simply because they are cheap and expected to "come in handy" some time.

Opening tinned meats, preserves, etc., forgetting all about them and leaving them to spoil.

There wouldn't be so many fellows on their uppers if the millionaires only had enough daughters to go around.

COMMENT.

Rain, rain, rain, everything looking dark, dismal and dreary, just the sort of weather to suit the pessimists. We cannot close our eyes to the fact that the world is full of pessimism. Its effects are to be felt in almost every quarter. I have been convinced of this fact more than once within the past few days, during my circulation around among the club members. We have always been inclined toward the optimistic side of life, and now more so than ever since we have just finished reading Helen Keller's little book on "Optimism," which we commend to all, particularly to those unfortunates who make themselves wretched contemplating all the ills of life, while forgetting its compensations. A person who moves along the pathway of life happily and serenely in the midst of cares and temptations, is a long ways better off than one who don't, and is constantly seeing the dark side of life. Every mind makes its own world, so life is just what we make it.

This old world is very bright to the few beautiful optimist souls, that go through it without pride or vainglory. Poverty, illness, affliction, the misfortunes that swarm about us, the failures that invest us, the losses that come to us now and again, lose all their keenness if we keep in view the duties we owe to others. To the mind rightly tuned to the vexatious affairs of this world, even sorrow molds itself into a form of happiness.

Helen Keller says truly: "Only by contact with evil could I have learned to feel by contrast, the beauty of truth, and love, and goodness."

PERSONALS.

Miss Myrtle Morris, of Cave Springs, Ga., passed through this city last week on her way to Cuba.

Miss Morris goes to Havana, Cuba, in connection with the Baptist Foreign Mission Board as a teacher to the deaf. We wish for Miss Morris a brilliant and successful career in her new field of labor.

Miss Margaret Magill entertained a few members of the Social League on January 5th, to a New Year reception and Donkey party at her home, "The Tallulah," Washington Street. This was one of the prettiest small functions that we have had this season.

A great deal of amusement was created during the dressing of the donkey, whose name was "Maud," but she didn't kick when Miss Annie Phillips won the first prize, a lovely white silk collarette. The second prize, an excellent four-in-hand scarf, was won by Mr. Tom Hawthorn. Fling, Pit, Fan-Tan, and all kinds of games were indulged in, and during the evening an elaborate luncheon was served.

In the center of the table was a large prize cake. Each guest cut their own slice in search of the prize, a tiny china negro baby eating a slice of a Georgia Watermelon, which was won by little Grace Brown.

Covers were laid for fifteen, the guests serving themselves as only buffet luncheons should be arranged.

Miss Nellie Proater has recently moved to Atlanta with her parents, from Dahlonega, Ga., and is a pleasant addition to our Social League.

Will Gholdston has returned from the holidays at his home in Tennessee. We all missed Will a great deal while he was away, as he is the life and spirit of all our entertainments.

Tom Jordan is arranging for a trip to New York and Eastern cities in the early Spring. Tom is one of our most popular bachelors and we trust none of the Eastern belles will capture him while he is away.

A portion of the members of the Social League are arranging to attend the opening performance of "Ben Hur," which opens here for a three-hour run on the 19th. The members will go in a body, and expect to be joined by a delegation of deaf-mutes from Lithuania, Ga. which place has quite a number of deaf-mute residents.

Herman Striplin, of Alabam, is a recent addition to the Atlanta deaf-mute colony. Mr. Walter Christian is now located with the Mutual Publishing Company.

The writer has been somewhat indisposed for several days, consequently this letter is not as newsworthy as it would otherwise be.

NEW YORK.

The Union League Scores Another Triumph.

L. E. S. ELECTIONS.

The News of the Week.

News items for this column should be sent direct to the DEAF-MUTES' JOURNAL, Station M, New York.

The 'Deaf-Mutes' Union League has achieved in the past many a triumph in the way of public entertainment, but we very much doubt if in its whole history the League has achieved so notable a success as on Wednesday evening, January 11th.

That date marked the occasion of the annual entertainment and reception, at Lexington Opera House assembly rooms, on East 58th Street, and to say the attendance was good would be putting it mild. The hall and balcony were taxed to their utmost to seat the assemblage while all the standing room in the hall and lobby was utilized, as far as it would go.

The management had invited and expected some distinguished guests, but in their stead, letters of regret came, from Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, Dr. Edward Miner Gallaudet, Prof. Dwight Elmendorf, and Principal Gruver, of the Lexington Avenue School.

At 9.15, the Vitagraph was brought into action, and for the next hour and a half a really splendid series of moving pictures were shown. There were scenes from Manchuria and Port Arthur, reconnoitering from balloons, comic situations, a pathetic chase after a supposed kidnapper, and wedding tours in 1st, 2d, and 3d class compartments of an English railway.

The whole series was a great treat, and never did the Vitagraph Company entertain a more attentive and appreciative assemblage.

The long rows of seats quickly disappeared, the floor was rapidly brushed, and at a few minutes after eleven the grand march began. The long line of exquisitely gowned ladies with their escorts, almost all of whom were in evening dress, more than twice circled the room, and the floor was too crowded to make the intricate figures that had been arranged by Floor Manager Ben Kaufman, and his assistant, George A. Craig.

However, all were in a merry humor, and the room was soon picturesque with whirling figures in the dizzy waltz, followed by the lancers, then the two-step, and so on till intermission gave a brief respite for refreshment in the grand restaurant below.

After intermission the dancing was resumed and kept up until four o'clock in the morning, when the last leaguer, Arthur C. Bachrach, with a big valise full of money and Henry Kohlman as guard of honor, took the Madison Avenue trolley for home.

Among the many who were present we noted the following, and our only regret is that a masculine pen is inadequate to describe some of the dainty and tasteful costumes worn by the ladies.

Miss Helene Wink, of Reading, Pa., Dr. and Mrs. T. E. Fox, Herman Beck, Mr. and Mrs. C. Lawrence, Mr. and Mrs. P. Kees, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Halsey, Mrs. H. J. Haight, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Driscoll, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Kane, Miss Major, Frank Brown, P. F. O'Brien, Ferdinand Aymerich, R. B. McGinnis, Mr. and Mrs. T. Little and Mrs. Little, Sr., Miss L. Little, of Phila., M. Heyman, Sylvester Fogarty of Flushing, L. I., E. Moeselein, A. McL. Baxter, James Aves, Mrs. Willard Smith and daughter, Vincent Kelly, Dr. and Mrs. E. L. Rose, Mr. Edw. Rose, of Chicago, Detective Holzman, Mr. H. C. Seward, Cornelius Rose, Miss N. Bleier, Miss Emma Schiff, Miss Nellie Horton, of Middletown, N. Y., Mr. and Mrs. Jacques Loew and son, Osmond, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Simonson, Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Sonnenborn, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Dickerson, Mr. and Mrs. E. Souweine, Mr. and Mrs. M. Levy, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Bothner, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Elkin, Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Graham, Miss Margaret H. Jones, Geo. D. Kinsey, H. L. Juh-ring, Miss M. Schaffer, Miss Sophie Muller, Miss Ruby Abrams, Miss Ida Henry, Wm. Fitzgerald, James Fitzgerald, Ormond Lewis, Chester P. Rice, Antonio Pons, of Porto Rico, Alex. Ernst, Mr. and Mrs. H. Kruger, Mr. and Mrs. J. Russell, Mr. and Mrs. W. Lipgens, A. L. Pach, M. Korngold, M. Miller, S. D. Newkirk, Mr. and Mrs. Atkinson, Mr. and Mrs. J. Royal Robinson, R. E. Maynard, Miss R. J. Bodenweiser, Miss Ray Moses and Mr. Morten Moses.

The officers of the Union League are: Francis W. Nubner, President;

A. C. Bachrach, 1st Vice-President; Henry C. Kohlman, 2d Vice-President; Marcus L. Kenner, Secretary; Simon Hirsch, Jr., Treasurer.

The Committees that performed the functions of their assignments with courtesy and grace were:—
Floor Committee—Moses W. Loew, Chairman; Chas. A. Bothner, James B. Gass, William H. Farnham, Alfred B. Ernst, Geo. M. Taggard, Lyman H. Metzger, Jacob Keiber, Jr., Irwin A. Oppenheimer.

Reception Committee—Marx Levy, Chairman; Emanuel Souweine, Joseph Sonnenborn, Aaron Banner, Walter I. Callahan, Harry Gloistein, Sol. Buttenheim.

I almost omitted to say that the music was by Prof. Hofinger's orchestra, and those who could hear said it was admirably adapted to the different dances and charmingly rendered.

It was noted that the other organizations of the deaf in New York, Brooklyn and Newark, N. J., were well and liberally represented. In closing, it is proper to say that the Union League is to be congratulated upon its latest and best public entertainment, especially the Committee of Arrangements that had the affair in charge, and who were: S. A. Gomprecht, Chairman, Arthur C. Bachrach, Treasurer, Theodore S. Rose, Benjamin Elkin, Edgar Bloom.

The annual election of the League of Elect Surds took place last Saturday evening, at the Lodge's rooms, St. Nicholas Avenue and 125th St. Next month, the League of Elect Surds will celebrate its 15th anniversary with a banquet. The forthcoming Entertainment and Ball on January 28th, 1905, promises to be largely attended, from the favorable reports of the committee of arrangements. The new officers of the League for 1905 are as follows:—

Grand Ruler
THOMAS F. FOX
Deputy Grand Ruler
ALEXANDER L. PACH
Grand Secretary
MAX MILLER
Grand Treasurer
E. SOUWEINE
Grand Tiler
CHAS. J. LECLERCQ
Grand Councilors
E. A. HODGSON
T. I. LOUNSBURY
A. CAPELLI

Attention is called to the League of Elect Surds' announcement in their advertisement concerning the five vaudeville professionals they have secured for January 28th. The Committee selected the talent because of the peculiar fitness of the acts for an audience in which deaf people predominate. The Surds promise a splendid evening's entertainment, and as they have never disappointed yet, it is safe to say to their high standard.

Arrangements for the forthcoming production of Tableaux Vivants, on the evening of Saturday, February 4th, are progressing finely. The number of reserved seats has been limited to one hundred, and as they sell for only 35 cents, it would be well to secure them in advance. Communications addressed to the chairman, as per advertisement on last page, will receive prompt attention. The tableaux promise to be unusually fine.

There will be an entertainment at the Willis Avenue M. E. Church, at eight o'clock on the evening of January 25th, to raise funds for the Willing Workers, an organization under the direction of Miss Juana P. Hagadorn, which seeks to assist the needy deaf and the blind. Mr. Walz, the leading soprano of Trinity Church Choir, is one of those who will assist in the music. All the deaf and their friends are invited.

The Bible Class of St. Ann's Church held its monthly meeting, last Tuesday evening. Mr. J. H. Keiser presided. The reports of the various officers showed a most encouraging progress in the aims of the class. Some time in the latter part of April it is proposed to hold a pantomime in the Guild room. Messrs. Alfred Stern and William Renner will have the arrangements in charge.

Krieger, the Merry Wizard, held forth at St. Ann's Guild Room last Saturday evening, to a fair sized assemblage. He was exceedingly merry and as mystifying as ever, and every one enjoyed his clever work. The extreme cold weather, and the fact that Prof. Krieger has been seen by many the deaf before, had its effect on the attendance.

Theo. S. Rose was agreeably surprised when his uncle, Mr. Edward Rose, of Chicago, greeted him at the Union League ball. The latter had come to New York to be present at the Friendship Club which gave a reception in honor of Theodore's father, on his 76th birthday, which occurred on January 12th.

In spite of the bitter cold, a large number of the deaf attended services at St. Ann's Church, Sunday afternoon. Lay reader, John H. Keiser, conducted the services.

Miss Alice Judge has been chosen as directress of the choir at St. Ann's. Her many years experience at Fahwood make her peculiarly fitted for the post. Miss Gertrude Turner will assist her. Both these young ladies are very graceful exponents of the sign language.

Several new maps and pictures will shortly adorn the walls of the Guild and Vestry rooms of St. Ann's Church. We already have a fine portrait of the late Rev. Dr. Thomas Gallaudet, and a portrait of Dr. Isaac Lewis Peet will soon be procured.

On the evening of January 29th, after evening prayer at St. Ann's Church, the stereopticon will be used to review the Life of Christ, which the Bible Class has been studying.

WILLIAMSPORT.

A week before Christmas, Mrs. Maggie Lupolt, wife of Mr. Jacob Lupolt, complained that she was suffering with pain about her neck, and soon laid abed sick with mumps. Afterwards, she became unconscious from pain in the head. On Christmas Eve, her relatives were summoned to her bed-side, as she was dying of healing of the brain. In the morning—Christmas morn—at 8:15 o'clock she died.

Funeral was held from her father's residence, to Wild Wood Cemetery, where interment was made.

Her death is mourned by many relatives and friends.

The Williamsport deaf-mutes contributed floral offerings.

Before marriage Mrs. Lupolt was Miss Maggie Phillips. She was educated at the St. Joseph's Institution, in New York.

After the funeral, Mr. Jacob Lupolt left for Shamokin, Pa., this mother's home.

The mother of Mrs. Bruce Smith, of Muncy, Pa., died suddenly while dressing to go to the market, on December 7th last. Funeral services were held in Muncy, Mr. and Mrs. Smith and children attending it.

Miss Alice Thom spent Christmas at the home of Mr. Hinz, in Plains, Pa.

Mr. Allen happened to meet them on the return trip, and all boarded the train together. On arriving in this city, they were shocked to hear of the death of Mrs. Lupolt.

Mr. Willie Hummel, of Milton, Pa., was here on New Year's Eve.

Mr. George Pomesmith spent Sunday with Mr. Chas. Longenberger, of Mountdun, Pa. Miss Mary Gorman has returned here after an absence of three years. We are glad to have her again with us.

The first wedding anniversary of Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Mielan, was held at their residence, 810 Fourth Avenue, on December 3d, last. Some of the deaf of Williamsport were present, and partook of the refreshments served. The couple were the recipients of many beautiful and useful presents.

Great Work by the Pittsburgh Deaf.

A BIRTHDAY PARTY.

News Items.

News items for this column should be sent to James S. Reider, 1338 Dover Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

We are happy to report that during the past week the Pittsburgh Local Branch sent the Treasurer of the Pennsylvania Society for the Advancement of the Deaf in Philadelphia the munificent sum of Eight hundred dollars ($800.00) for the Home for Aged and Infirm Deaf, which represents part of the proceeds of the recent bazaar. More may be received later from the same Branch. A full report of this most successful bazaar appeared in the JOURNAL a few weeks ago. Any one who has experience in managing a fair can tell you that it is no small task to raise such a sum in the short time that it took the Pittsburgh people. We know of a prosperous church in our neighborhood that recently held a fair all week and cleared only about $350. How much better the deaf did than the church people! Therefore, we cannot look upon their work as a small achievement, and we would give them all the credit possible.

The Philadelphia deaf, aided by sympathetic hearing friends of the Home, did quite as well as their Pittsburgh brethren, and they also deserve repeated mention.

Johnstown has several times given valuable aid to the Home. Some other locations in the State have also done their best for the Home; but there are many places that have not as yet given help. We shall patiently hope that they will come in line some day and demonstrate their intelligence and brotherly spirit, as those of the larger cities do. There are many little ways of raising money, and all places should be able to do something.

Last week the Pittsburgh Branch also sent the Treasurer $119.16, by the proceeds of Penny-a-Punch cards. That makes $919.16 from that Branch in one week. Below is a list of the workers who deserve mention.

The holidays, mingled with joy and sorrow, have faded into the dim vista of the past, and another year has just started. How swiftly the wheels of time roll on.

Mrs. C. M. Nelson and Miss Elizabeth P. Nelson recently went on a visit to Rome, N. Y. The pupils at the Institution for deaf-mutes there were glad to see them again.

Miss Van Wagner, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., presented two rubber plants to the Home some time ago. The plants look fresh and green, and have been put in new tubs.

Miss Frances E. Brink, and a lady friend, were callers here on a recent beautiful mild autumn afternoon. Miss Brink resigned her position as Matron of the Home in March, a year ago, but she is now at the head of the Orange County Home for Aged Women, which is located in Middletown, N. Y.

On the last Sunday in October, Miss Porter conducted the morning service in the chapel. It was her first effort, and she succeeded well. Miss Porter owes her proficiency in the sign language to her American Alma Mater, Fahwood, she having also attended the Protestant school for the deaf and dumb in Claremont, Ireland, before she crossed the Atlantic Ocean, nearly a quarter of a century ago.

Benny Friday's mother came down here from Albany to see him a short time ago, and brought him some things.

The stable, about which mention was made in a former letter, is forty feet long, and twenty-eight feet wide. It has a loft and three stalls. At a distance, the wooden structure might be taken for a farm house, for it is nicely built.

One of the old ladies is in receipt of a letter from her friend, Miss Charlotte Conklin, in which she said she was going to do some fancy work for the Fair in aid of the Home, which is to be held in New York City next Spring. Who else will lend a helping hand for this noble and deserving charity? Mr. James H. Caton was admitted to the Home on November 1st, 1904. His father brought him, and left pleased to know that he would be well cared for. James is ed upon Mrs. Schreiner. She was presented with a large bundle, which was made up of a number of wrappings. As she opened each wrapping, a note told some event in her life, like her birth, school days, maidenhood, courtship, marriage, etc., until the last wrapping was reached, which contained a comic toy. An enjoyable evening was had by all present.

Mrs. A. Schreiner, nee Miss Annie J. Auer, is living with her sister at Florence, N. J., while her husband works in Philadelphia and joins her weekly. Mr. Schreiner is employed in a carpet mill owned by the well-known firm of Ivins, Dietz & Magee Co.

An euche party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mayer, Jr., last Friday evening, 13th inst. After the games the guests partook of an oyster supper. Besides the Mayers, were present: Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Wilson, Miss Alice M. Leister and Messrs. Eugene McCarty, Frank L. Feighan, Joseph Leidy and Thomas E. Jones.

Supt. John P. Walker, of the Trenton School, is to lecture before the Clerical Literary Association, on Thursday evening of this week, 19th inst. Subject not known, but it may be about his observations at the St. Louis Fair.

Mr. J. D. Kirkhuff, of the teaching staff at Mt. Airy, is at the bedside of his brother, who is seriously ill in Florida.

Harry C. Fernekees, of Allentown, came to town on Saturday, and remained over Sunday.

The next meeting of the Philadelphia Local Branch will be on Saturday evening, January 28th, at Harrison Hall.

The Board of Managers of the P. S. A. D., will meet at the home of Treasurer Reider, on Friday evening of this week.

The Chambers Printing House, which employs Chas. M. Ponnell steadily, will remove from the Press Building to a new building on Eleventh Street, below Sansom, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. John O'Neill, of Phoenixville, made a short visit to the city last week.

We are happy to report that Howard E. Arnold is recovering from his recent serious illness.

Frank L. Feighan gave a reading before the Clerical Literary Association last Thursday evening, 12th.

Martin C. Fortescue reports work brisk at the American Car Shops at Berwick, Pa. Mr. Robertson, a deaf-mute from Scotland, has been working there also for some time, but he leaves this week to return to his former place, in Newark N. J.

Mrs. Laura Pennell's sister, Gertrude, who is known to some deaf friends of Mr. and Mrs. Pennell, was married at her new house, on Erie Ave., to Mr. William T. Seagle, December 28th. A wedding reception was held there by the family and relatives. The gifts were very handsome and expensive. Their new house was only finished last month, and it looks very beautiful.

GALLAUDET HOME.

The holidays, mingled with joy and sorrow, have faded into the dim vista of the past, and another year has just started. How swiftly the wheels of time roll on.

Mrs. C. M. Nelson and Miss Elizabeth P. Nelson recently went on a visit to Rome, N. Y. The pupils at the Institution for deaf-mutes there were glad to see them again.

Who else will lend a helping hand for this noble and deserving charity? Mr. James H. Caton was admitted to the Home on November 1st, 1904. His father brought him, and left pleased to know that he would be well cared for. James is quite smart, and possesses a good memory, which must be of great use to him in his triple misfortune.

A friend of Mrs. C. M. Nelson, whose name could not be obtained, has paid for the New York Herald, which is sent here every day. The New York Press and the New York World also come.

On the evening of November 17th, Mr. Miner returned from a month's stay in Manhattan, where he went to a hospital to undergo treatment for some kind of a skin malady. In the chapel the next morning he gave a brief account of what he had seen in the city during his sojourn. He took in the Fahwood School, and marveled at its growing progress.

Mrs. Francis B. Whitcome and Mrs. Edward Taylor, of the Ladies' Board, and Mrs. Lee, mother of Mrs. Taylor, called here a few months ago. Mrs. Whitcome is familiar with the single hand alphabet, as she has a deaf-mute cousin.

Shortly after supper on November 23d, Mrs. Roberts was not a little surprised to receive a visit from her daughter, Mrs. Anna Roberts Hatch, who had previously come east from Santa Barbara, Cal., to which city she said she would soon go back.

Mrs. Jones, the matron, presented Mrs. Lockwood with a book of poems on her birthday, December 10th.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Lewis are comfortably settled in their new home on Warburton Avenue, Yonkers, N. Y. Mr. Lewis is a graduate of Gallaudet College, Washington, D. C., and also attended the Eastman business college in Poughkeepsie, where his friends are legion.

Miss Carrie V. Hagadorn, of New York City, came up here for good on Wednesday, December 21st. She is semi-mute and very bright. After graduating from the Fahwood School she held a position in the Art Department for a number of years.

Mr. James Caton was taken to the Queen City, on December 23d, to spend Christmas with his relatives. He reported having a very enjoyable time.

Mrs. Robert's sister, Mrs. Maria Hugg, died somewhere in Pennsylvania, several weeks ago. On account of advanced age and the distance, Mrs. Roberts was unable to attend the funeral.

Mrs. C. B. Thompson and Miss Phoebe Pett, of the Ladies' Board, were at the Home on December 23d. They trimmed the Christmas tree with pretty things. The tree stood in the north-east corner of the reception room, was twelve feet high, and reached to the ceiling. Soon after the family had finished their supper, they assembled in the apartment to receive what good old Santa Claus left them.

Mr. C. Q. Mann conducted an excellent Christmas service in the chapel Sunday morning, December 25th. He left for Yonkers the next day.

Miss Mary F. Palmer, our assistant matron, started on a sad journey to Plattsburg, N. Y., on December 27th, as she had received word of the death of her aunt, M. Walworth, which occurred a few days previous.

Among the Christmas gifts which Miss Porter received were a handsome large rug, and white window curtains.

The weather on New Year's Day was warm and spring-like. It seemed as if May had returned before its proper time.

Last fall, a much-needed ice house was built midway between the Home and the farm house. It is in the shape of a letter V upside down.

Four of the inmates have been students in the High Class at the Fahwood School, and all except one were under the personal instruction of the late Dr. I. L. Peet, who ranked among the ablest educators of the deaf, not only in this country, but abroad.

Rev. Dr. Chamberlain officiated in the chapel, morning and afternoon, on Epiphany Sunday, January 6th. The elegant new book rest, which he used for the first time, had on its plate the following inscription: "To the glory of God, and in loving memory of Rev. Thomas Gallaudet, from the deaf-mutes of Buffalo and Rochester, December, 1904." The book rest was presented to the Home through the untiring efforts of Rev. C. O. Dantzer, before he severed his connection with church work in the Western part of the State, to accept another clerical position in Pennsylvania.

Blind Richard Clinton is the happy owner of a frying pan clock, which a friend in New York City lately sent to him by express.
